Scandic Diesel is expanding the sales and service team with a new supply chain manager

Scandic Diesel Services Inc is happy to welcome Mr. Kim Lebech onboard the team as supply chain manager. Kim will join our operations team and be both back and front end support towards our clients.

Kim will in time take over some our specific product line sales.

Kim is also while working for Scandic Diesel finalizing his master in quality systems engineering at Concordia University here in Montreal.

Kim's background is from University of Southern Denmark (Denmark) as an engineer specialized in international oriented engineering and the content of the program can be illustrated by the following main themes:

Supply Chain Management - Production and Operations Management
Business Management
International Orientation and Cultural Understanding

The program has strong ties to the industry and Kim has conducted projects in close cooperation with international companies in both Europe and North America.
